THE URBAN FUTURES MONTHLY

Stay up to date with the latest news from the Urban Futures Platform

Dear Colleagues and Friends,

For this February edition of Urban Futures Monthly I am proud to announce that:

- The Hot Off The Press book presentation online seminars are back for a brand new Spring 2024 series. We have the pleasure to let Sako Musterd present us his last book "Advanced Introduction to Urban Segregation".
- The Brown Bag Lunch series continues on February 22 at 1.15pm with a joint session on sustainability with Jana Brandl and Laura Lotteraner.
- Stay tuned for more updates on the rest of our programme for the Spring 2024 Hot Off The Press online seminars!

We wish you a nice start in this spring semester!

Kind regards,
Yuri Kazepov and Urban Futures PIs

Hot Off The Press book presentation

March 20th - "Advanced Introduction to Urban Segregation"

Sako Musterd is Professor of Urban Geography at the University of Amsterdam, NL.

He will present his most recent book which gives a meticulous and particularly useful overview on the broad literature on urban segregation. This contribution describes current trends, analyses patterns across countries and "further discusses the different approaches and challenges affecting policy interventions".

Time: 11 A.M.- 12.30 P.M.GMT+1

Register until March 13th!

The bottom of the slide has a green bar with the text 'ENVIRONMENT AND SUSTAINABILITY'.

be improved in the field of environmental pollution.

Making cities sustainable. Eco-social policy integration in European urban areas

Jana Brandl

The talk will give insights into theoretical and empirical research on the interrelation of ecological and social sustainability. Based on the broader literature on policy integration, it argues for a processual understanding of eco-social policy integration and proposes an analytical framework to study the scale-specific governance modes and policy mixes applied to formulate and implement such policies.
